DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 14-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear if the base layer applied to the auxiliary bearer in the body of the claim is the same base layer mentioned in the preamble of the claim. If so, it should be specified in the body of the claim that the base layer is thin and made of a flexible organic material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or
(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

4. Claim 14, 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tanaka (U.S. Patent 5,909,009).

Tanaka discloses a method of making a laminate organic resin wiring board wherein a layer of polyimide (flexible organic material base layer) (15) is formed on a quartz glass plate(auxiliary bearer) (14) which is transparent to laser radiation and a wiring pattern (metallic fine structure) (19) is formed on the base layer. An insulating layer (21) is formed over the wiring pattern (19), then via holes (23) are formed in the insulating layer (21) and metal bumps (second layer metallic fine structure) (26) are formed in the via holes and are interconnected with the wiring patterns (19). The laminate is then detached from the quartz glass plate (14) by directing laser radiation through the quartz glass plate (14) onto the polyimide base layer (15) (Column 4, lines 10-60). Tanaka anticipates claims 14, 24, and 25.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 15-23 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tanaka (U.S. Patent 5,909,009).

Tanaka is silent towards using all the claimed limitations steps of claims 15-23 and 26, however these limitations are all well known and conventional to those of ordinary skill in the art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use well known and conventional techniques and materials in the method of Tanaka.

Conclusion

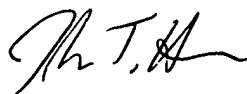

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Arjavalingham et al (U.S. Patent 5,534,094) teaches a method of building a laminate on a plate of quartz glass with a polyimide base layer and detach the laminate from the quartz glass by directing laser radiation through the glass onto the polyimide base layer.
